Larry's Lines

*This year that we call 2025 is halfway gone. Sadly, we cannot go back and change anything that has happened in the previous six months. But on the bright side we can make sure what we do in the next six months has a profound impact on those we come in contact with. We are ordinary people, but we can do extraordinary things because of the Spirit of God working in and through us. By both our actions and our words let others know we are children of God.

*I trust you are enjoying the summer, heat and all. There is always mixed opinion over whether summer or winter is best. After experiencing a really cold winter several years back I determined that I could wrap up enough to stay warm but could not stay cool enough in the summer. I am not sure if I still feel that way as I have aged. But I can take assurance knowing that Jesus is the same in not only summer and winter but in all seasons of life.

*I look forward to seeing you in worship each Sunday at 10:45. Come and bring someone with you.

In Christ,

Larry
